Access to Higher Education-A2HE

Students in foster care face more challenges than the typical student to graduate from high school and attend college. These students often move from home to home and from school to school causing them to fall behind in school, which can make graduation a challenge. Through three Access to Higher Education (A2HE) events students in foster care realize they CAN go to college, they learn HOW to do it, and they find the people who will be there to HELP them graduate from college with a certificate or diploma. Multiple agencies collaborate annually to provide the A2HE events. A2HE events provide hands-on career exploration and college registration assistance for junior high and high school students, community resources and motivational, leadership and team building activities. Most importantly, they connect with adults who can provide support and guidance during their educational journey.
